

ADMINISTRATIVE RESOLUTION MEETING

ADMINISTRATIVE RESOLUTION MEETING

The student or student organization meets with the Student Conduct Officer (SCO) or Director of CSI to discuss the alleged violations involved. There are three possible outcomes: the alleged violations are dismissed, the student accepts responsibility, or the case is referred to a Student Conduct Review.

STUDENT ACCEPTS RESPONSIBILITY

If the student or student organization accepts responsibility for the alleged violations, the SCO Director of CSI will assign sanctions. The student may request to reduce the sanctions.

SANCTIONS REDUCTION REQUEST

A student or student organization may request a sanction reduction request if they are: accepting responsibility, found responsible, or if an appeal is affirmed. All decisions on sanction reductions requests are considered final.

APPEALS PROCESS

The student or student organization may appeal the Review decision and/or sanctions or the sanctions from the Administrative Resolution meeting to the Office of Student Conduct. Appeals are reviewed by the Council of Provosts (undergraduates), relevant Dean (graduate, medical pharmacy, or Extension) or Assistant Vice Chancellor-Student Life (Student Organizations).

APPEALS DECISION

The student or student organization is notified of the appeal decision in writing by the Office of Student Conduct. The decision may and/or sanctions may be affirmed, modified, dismissed or referred for review. All appeal decisions are final.

STUDENT CONDUCT REVIEW

If the student or student organization does not accept responsibility and the SCO or Director of CSI believes there is a preponderance of the evidence to support the alleged violations, the case is forwarded to a Student Conduct Review with a Conduct Board or Review Officer.

STUDENT FOUND RESPONSIBLE

If the student or student organization is found responsible after Student Conduct Review process and sanctions are assigned by the SCO or Director of CSI. The student or student organization may appeal the decision and/or request to reduce the sanctions. Please see "Appeals Process".

STUDENT FOUND NOT RESPONSIBLE

If the student or student organization is found not responsible after Student Conduct Review process, all alleged violations are dismissed with no further consequence to the student or student organization.

CASE DISMISSED

If there is not a preponderance of the evidence to sustain all alleged violations, the SCO will dismiss them with no further consequence to the student.

For Student Organizations, if there is not a preponderance of the evidence to sustain all alleged violations, the Director of CSI or their designee will dismiss them with no further consequence to the organization.
